Offered in a specially designed secure unit, ElderWood's extraordinary Seasons® Memory Care program employs specific techniques to help memory-impaired residents maintain dignity, ability and independence.

Serene, comforting environment

Our welcoming atmosphere conjures memories of home, with a cozy country kitchen for activities and meals. Residents can relax in our pleasant living area, or enjoy quiet time in the adjoining lounge or library. There's even an enclosed porch complete with rocking chairs and blooming window boxes.

Unique, personalized care

Seasons is a unique, comprehensive approach based on an individual's personality, history, likes and dislikes. Daytime and evening programs engage all the senses and encourage creativity. Specially trained staff members customize activities to each resident's level of ability. And everyone contributes to the household routine, much like a family.

Amazing, proven results

Seasons participants become less anxious, more talkative and more cooperative. They eat and sleep better, display fewer upsetting behaviors, and often require less medication. Family relationships improve when loved ones seem more like their old, familiar selves. It all adds up to a happier life for everyone.

Come and stay

No one likes to be uprooted, and it's especially difficult for people in memory care. Unlike most area facilities, Heathwood offers New York State's Assisted Living Program. If circumstances change, residents who are medically qualified can take advantage of ALP and stay right here.

For more care, more quality choices

Heathwood is part of ElderWood's continuum of care. Should residents eventually need more care, our award-winning skilled nursing is available in locations throughout Western and Central New York. In fact, ElderWood Health Care at Oakwood is just around the corner.
